

Sandy Rezendes

Head of Corporate Learning and Development

Sandy Rezendes is a seasoned leader in talent development and corporate learning, currently serving as Head of Corporate Learning and Development at leading LMS provider D2L. She brings extensive experience from senior leadership roles at Ameriprise Financial Services, Manulife / John Hancock, Bank of America Merrill Lynch, Citizens Bank and Fidelity Investments. Throughout her career, Sandy has built a reputation for driving innovative learning strategies, fostering leadership growth, and creating cultures of continuous development. Her global expertise and results-driven approach have transformed learning organizations, enabling companies to adapt, grow, and thrive in today's fast-changing business environment.